Supporting People Recovering from Domestic Abuse

“It is really important to understand that domestic violence doesn’t discriminate. It happens in all communities and at all income and education levels.

It is equally important for anyone who is experiencing any form of abuse or control, to know that there is help and a way out. With access to counseling and community resources, those affected by domestic abuse can move past barriers and live a healthy life.”

Zero Tolerance for Domestic Abuse

Zero Tolerance for Domestic Abuse (OT4DA) is a nonprofit organization started by an experienced therapist specializing in domestic abuse in all its forms. We provide free counseling for victims of domestic violence and sexual assault at a family justice center in Lakewood, Colorado. At OT4DA, we believe every victim of domestic abuse can become a survivor because with help and support, there is always a way out.

The Need

According to the National Coalition Against Domestic Violence, one in three women and one in four men in the U.S. will be the victim of domestic violence at some point in their lifetime. Additionally, 48 percent of women and 49 percent of men have experienced psychological abuse by an intimate partner.

What We Do

COUNSELING: We aim to provide counseling services with a licensed therapist who has 20 years of experience working with domestic abuse clients.

AWARENESS: We are raising awareness of all forms of domestic abuse including emotional, verbal and financial abuse. Not all abuse is physical!

ADVOCACY: We want to elevate the voices of people experiencing abuse through legal protections, legislation and prevention efforts.
